While the yattris were going through an outer transformation with the change of subjects they were also going through an inner transformation reflected in the performances

- The Launch was a depiction of the Opening of a Lotus and the beginning of creation. The first sound and the beginning of creation.
- The Bharatnatyam dance depicted the transition of the feminine energy from Durga to Laxmi to Saraswati.

- This was followed by the Chaav performance of Mahishasur Mardini at Orissa. The breaking of all low tendencies within and without us.
- Post which at Varanasi, the Mohini Attam performer took us through the story of Ganga and its flow - symbolizing life. Thus bringing in sthira and quiet at this crucial juncture in the yatra.
- The last cultural event was in Delhi where the message of Mystic saints who traveled was heard in different languages and several cross border instruments accompanied it. Thus breaking barriers and transcending inner blocks.

6. Sustainable Initiatives : Focus on Green aspect of Yatra

We would like to express our gratitude to SIDBI and Rainmatter for actively encouraging us to initiate the green version of the yatra. The following were the sustainable initiatives that were seamlessly integrated into the journey, with a strong focus on promoting environmental consciousness.

Waste Recycling and Upcycling:

- Participants were sensitized on sustainability practices, and comprehensive measures were implemented to recycle and upcycle waste generated during the Yatra.
- Garbage segregation into dry and wet waste was diligently carried out at all locations.
- Bottles and plastic waste were sent for recycling through pre-assigned vendors, ensuring responsible disposal.

Waste Warriors Program:

The participants of Yatra volunteered to be waste warriors. The waste warriors were then assigned to various role model locations where the train went to ensure ongoing sensitization and proper waste management practices. The waste warriors worked with the catering team and external stakeholders and monitored the same.

Educational Posters:

Informative posters were created and prominently displayed in all compartments of the train, encouraging participants to actively contribute to our sustainability efforts.

Green Enterprise Challenge:

Participants were encouraged to participate in the Green Enterprise Challenge, resulting in an inspiring 13 entries. The evaluation is currently underway, with a shortlist of startups anticipated by the end of December. We are excited to announce the selected ventures to all participants.

Digital Communication:

In line with our commitment to sustainability, communication with participants was primarily conducted through digital mediums.

Soft copies of Yatra Saar, Parichay, and the Impact Report were initiated, reducing the need for paper and minimizing our environmental footprint.

10 Passing the baton and start of a new journey

Ending a Yatra and starting a movement.

The Jagriti G20 Startup 20 Yatra 2023 started in Mumbai on 28th October and concluded in Mumbai on 10th November after circumnavigating the length and breath of India.

This marks the end of our 16th Yatra and brings the number of leaders who have experienced this life changing journey to 8000. This year we had over 60 international participants from 20 G20 countries, and this gave the Yatra an international dimension along with 400 changemakers from India.

But as this Yatra ended, we created a new dream. The dream of an Amazon Yatra on the river Amazon as Brazil takes on the presidency next year. For this at a special ceremony in Varanasi we mixed the waters from rivers across India with that of the Ganga and put this in a Kalash. The Banyan Baton, which carries the flags of all the 20 G20 nations was handed over to 5 Brazilian delegates in the Yatra in Ahmedabad, with this Kalash. This is the symbolic passing of the baton in the karmabhoomi of Mahatma Gandhi in the form of a Banyan Revolution that will take the energy of Jagriti Yatra to Brazil. We hope this creates a relay race for further Yatras in other countries.

The Yatra has already been replicated in 5 other countries organically through participants who have experienced this journey. It represents a new movement of Udyamita, or Enterprise Led Development, where young men and women travel their countries and create a bias for building and friendship. This is important in a fractured world where, much like the Olympic movement, India is ready to export a movement of peace and brotherhood that believes in integration, a topic that is also central to the Middle of the Diamond India theory.

THANK YOU
